Alvarion And DigitalBridge To Showcase Deployment Of WiMAX Technology For Rural Broadband Service At WCA 2007

WASHINGTON, DC (June 8, 2007) – Alvarion Chief Executive Officer and President Tzvika Friedman and DigitalBridge Communications Chief Executive Officer Kelley Dunne will be featured speakers at a joint presentation on June 13 at WCA 2007 – the wireless broadband industry’s premier global convention organized by the Wireless Communications Association International. This year’s event – scheduled to take place at the historic Omni Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D.C., June 12-15, 2007 – will convene over 1,700 industry leaders and high-level government officials from over 40 nations, with 140+ distinguished speakers debating business, policy, technology, investing, security, and international wireless issues.

Alvarion and DigitalBridge Communications (DBC) will showcase a deployment of WiMAX technology for rural broadband service and provide a roadmap for other carriers who serve rural markets.

DBC is a fast-growing rural broadband carrier that is building a nationwide footprint to deploy WiMAX services in rural markets. DBC is bringing high speed Internet and other telecommunications services via broadband wireless technology to towns with fewer than 100,000 people with an adaptable platform to allow for wholesale and retail growth.

A leader in WiMAX innovation, Alvarion reports the most broadband wireless deployments in the world. Alvarion is a supplier for DigitalBridge Communications.
